Level Playground

Level Playground is a primary prevention of violence against women initiative that uses digital platforms to engage parents, caregivers and early childhood educators. Level Playground provides practical information and activities to challenge rigid gender stereotypes and gender norms in their every day interactions with young children. It is themed around children's learning, playing and reading behaviours, and aims to ensure children are not limited by their gender. Level Playground comprises of both a website with local, state, national and international resources and social media channels on Facebook and Instagram.

Strengthening existing partnerships is just as important as developing new ones. In the spirit of partnership, the Level Playground website features many resources developed by Together for Equality & Respect partners including WHE's 'No Limitations – Breaking Down Gender Stereotypes in the Early Years' guide, City of Monash's 'Gendering Equality and Respect' library booklist and Access Health & Community's Book Selection Checklist.
